

Directions to the Chair and the Faculty Executive Board Regarding the Transition to a New Faculty Evaluation Plan

Date of Faculty Approval: October 26, 2016

The Department of History, having adopted a new Faculty Evaluation Plan in October 2016, does not intend to penalize faculty members for pursuing the goals for research, teaching, and service set forth at the beginning of the 2016 calendar year. Accordingly, the Department of History directs the chair and the members of the Faculty Executive Board to hold faculty harmless for activities undertaken in pursuit of these goals in 2016. In particular, the chair and the Faculty Executive Board are directed to take into account the 2013 version of the Faculty Evaluation Plan when evaluating teaching in 2016, ensuring that faculty members also receive credit for teaching the service courses specified in Appendix B of that document.
